President's Club Spotlights

Caddo Office Reimagined provides members with their ideal neighborhood office: a place to work that is near home, but not at home. Our standalone neighborhood office buildings offer private office suites with four hard walls and a lockable door with a 60-day cancellation, no-term lease. This unique model provides an ideal combination of focus, credibility, and balance – while keeping costs low and terms fair and transparent – so that members can focus on their business and the things that are most important to them.

On Nov. 10, Caddo is opening its 8th location in DFW near Coit and George Bush at 4324 Mapleshade. This project is managed by Richardson Chamber member, Laycee Gonzalez, and features 146 private office suites for small businesses in Richardson, Plano, and North Dallas. We are offering a very special founders' promotion for the first 40 suites that lease – 20% off first YEAR's rent (limited quantity of suites remain).

As a general contractor for over half a century, Hill & Wilkinson has steadily grown from a small business to a respected industry leader providing a full range of services in a variety of markets. From a simple maintenance project to the design-build of a fast-track facility, we deliver our projects with an attitude of service and accountability. With the desire to maintain meaningful relationships with our clients, we endeavor to do things the right way and to bring trust, honesty, and good, old-fashioned hard work to every project.

Luther Hill founded the firm in 1968 on the belief in strict standards for quality and safety. He gained national attention for building big business projects with a small business attitude. Greg Wilkinson and Fritz McKinstry carried on his legacy when they bought the company in 1985. Now, Paul Driscoll, CEO, is leading the firm into the future with a commitment to retaining the culture and principles that have been central to our success. Many things have changed as we have evolved into a much larger firm, but our philosophy and core values have remained the same - respect, quality, safety, commitment, training, fun, and citizenship.

Hill & Wilkinson offers a full range of general contracting services under a variety of contractual arrangements including construction manager, general contractor, design-build, or design-assist. Additional services include preconstruction, process driven design and construction, millwright (equipment installation), LEED management, commissioning, and special projects.
