Spotlight on Methodist Richardson Medical Center

It's not somewhere you plan to go. But when emergencies happen, you want somewhere close to home that you trust to return you and your loved ones to good health. That is why Methodist Richardson Medical Center is expanding its Emergency Department to better serve you. The $46 million project will almost double the number of emergency and trauma beds, as well as expand the lab and pharmacy.

This most recent project is the third major expansion for the hospital since it opened eight years ago with 120 beds. In 2018, Methodist Richardson underwent an $85 million expansion project that included the 104,000 square foot addition of floors 5 and 6, with 150 new, all-private acute care suites. The project also added the hospital's ninth operating room and a seven-story parking garage. The new facilities opened in late December 2019, just months ahead of the COVID-19 global pandemic.

“That timing was fortunate, but growth is no accident,” says Methodist Richardson President Ken Hutchenrider. “It’s about preparing for the future with a strategic master plan that reacts to the evolving needs of our communities.”

Methodist Richardson is designated as a Level III Trauma Center, as well as a Comprehensive Stroke Center. The hospital’s specialties include cardiology, orthopedics, complex GI, neurosurgery and world-class cancer treatment.

It’s the care you can trust, right where you need it.
